THE DILKE SCANDAL.

Some Startling Revelations Expected in November—His Fiancee in India.

A London cablegram states that the lawyers engaged in the divorce cases of Crawford vs. Crawford and Dilke, declare that it is impossible to arrange the matter so as to prevent a trial of the suit in a divorce court, or in any way to stop the whole story of the scandal with which Sir Charles Dilke's name has for some time been associated from coming out during the proceedings in court. The vacation of the lawyers is now in progress and the trial of the case has been postponed until November. Mrs. Mark Pattison, the fiancee of Sir Charles Dilke, who has been sojourning in India for some time, has sent a second telegram to Sir Charles, in which she expressed the utmost confidence in his integrity and declared that she would return to England instantly and stand by his side during the trial. She avers that she believed in his innocence of the crime charged against him. Sir Charles immediately telegraphed the lady not to return on his account, as he was confident of victory, and dissuaded her from starting for home at once. Mrs. Pattison is at present visiting at the residence of the Right Hon. Grant Duff, Governor-General of Madras, where she was recently prostrated with typhoid fever. She intends, after leaving there to spend a month with the family of the Earl of Dufferin, Viceroy of India, in Calcutta, and will then leave for England, so that now that the case of her betrothed has been postponed until November, she will in all likelihood be present at the trial. The attitude of Mrs. Pattison during Sir Charles Dilke's trouble has been universally commended, and has done much to relieve him of the load of odium that has been cast upon him.

It is asserted that the case cannot be heard until January next, owing to the large number of prior cases on the calendar. Sir Charles and his friends believe that a settlement out of the courts will be effected. If the case goes to trial it is thought it will be conducted in a way to afford as little scandal or gossip as possible. Mr. Crawford himself desires to avoid making exposures, and wishes merely to obtain a divorce. Very strong social and political influence are being brought to bear upon him to induce him to be contented with a simple separation, and to allow the case to be postponed indefinitely, or for at least six months, in order to give time for a subsidence of the passionate family quarrel which the scandal has provoked. The announcement of her engagement to Sir Charles Dilke made by his fiancee, Mrs. Pattison, is generally supposed to be designed to testify her disbelief in the charges brought against him; but it is also said to have another aim, namely, to prevent a threatened rupture between herself and Sir Charles Dilke, and the annulment of their engagement. Since the death of Mr. Pattison, who was rector of Lincoln college, Sir Charles Dilke's attentions, which were marked and continuous before Mrs. Pattison became a widow, have been rapidly cooling and had almost ceased, and the lady's public declaration of her relations with him is believed to be meant to clinch the connection before further developments shall have made a sparation almost imperative. The husband left her a fortune of £30,000, but Mrs. Pattison is already passee and upward of forty years old.

Gen. Booth's scheme for a refuge for female minors who have been betrayed is meeting with success. The movement has developed a distinctly class sentiment with regard to the agitation. The contributors are all Liberals, no Conservative having added his name to the list, and they are all dissenters. The Church of England clergy hold aloof from the Salvation Army scheme, and the Archbishop of Canterbury, in replying to the solicitation of Booth, addressed a letter to the clergy, in which he says the remedies for the social evil lie in the serious and steady application of the law, and recommends the co-operation of the vigilance committees of every town for its suppression and the formation of new ones. He declares that the support given by men to this movement should include respect for womanhood, purity of language and personal purity, and the avoidance of the evils which are due to men themselves rather than women.

THIRD OF THE AGITATION.

A London special says: The continuation of the agitation against the most flagrant forms of London vices, as revealed by the Pall Mall Gazette, is worrying and disgusting people, and is beginning to meet with general condemnation. The Conservative press is commencing to decry the business, and a number of established church organs are following suit. The archbishops of York and Canterbury and other leaders of religious thought are waning in their support of the agitation. On the other hand, however, the Wesleyans, the Radicals, and other associated religious bodies are pushing the agitation with all their might, and endeavoring to enlist popular sympathy by means of great public demonstrations. All the influence possessed by dissenting religious organizations seems to be at present in use to make the Hyde Park meeting a monster success. The council list for this meeting includes Prof. Newman, the Right Hon. Joseph Stansfield, President Roberts of the Wesleyan conference, ex-President Griffith of the Wesleyan conference, Mr. Michael Davitt, Connors, Wilberforce and French, and many other clerical dissenting notables. In Liverpool, Manchester, and other large cities of England, vigilance committees are being formed for the purpose of obtaining local legislation for the suppression of open vice. Mrs. Fawcett, widow of Prof. Fawcett, is strongly in favor of continuing the agitations. Replying to certain criticisms on her conduct in this respect, Mrs. Fawcett contends that the agitation inaugurated in revelations made by the Pall Mall Gazette has already resulted in many benefits to the people of England, and among which she enumerates "a general arousing of public conscience" and "increased severity in the sentences for crimes against children," which will tend to save young men and women from "wallowing in vice." The purity society has encountered much opposition in its work of putting "shadows" on public men. Its numerous agents, who have been engaged in the work of acting as detectives against public men, have been warned by the authorities to refrain from making assistants of themselves, and the regular police have been ordered to prevent these spies from annoying members of parliament, many of whom have complained of the posterium.

Montreal people are terrorized by the frequency and daring character of the burglaries perpetrated there.

THE WIDE WORLD.

THIS DAY'S DESPATCHES

Yellow Fever in New York.

Special to THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—A dispatch from Health Commissioner Raymond, Brooklyn, warned the sanitary authorities today to be on the lookout for Henry Ryners, 22 years old, a sailor on the schooner Jno. Gibson, who had left the vessel, now lying at Brooklyn dock, sick with symptoms suspiciously like those of yellow fever. The John Gibson came into port from Cienfuegos, Aug. 6th, and was detained in quarantine till Aug. 15th, when all being well on board she was allowed to come up to her dock. It is reported now that her captain had died on the voyage from fever. Another report has it that there was no sickness on board. Ryners left the ship yesterday, and it was found that he had aroused the city to New York. Search was at once made for him, but before it was begun a citizen had found Ryners lying very ill in Battery park, and had helped him to No. 27 State street, where he fell in the hallway, unable to go further. Here Dr. Conant, Sanitary Inspector, found him, and had him at once removed to Riverside hospital. During the night he developed well known signs of the dreaded disease, and this morning he was removed to quarantine. The premises in State street were disinfected. Brooklyn health officials are looking after the ship and now that her partly discharged cargo. Health officers say they do not believe yellow fever could become epidemic in New York in its present excellent sanitary condition.

Another Villard Boom.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Much interest is manifested in the report that Villard will once more assume a prominent position in the management of the affairs of the Northern Pacific. That the Rock Island is about to obtain control of the Northern Pacific is generally believed in railroad circles. It is known that New York capitalists largely interested in Rock Island have lately secured large amounts of stock in the Northern Pacific and Oregon and Transcontinental companies. It is stated that Vanderbilt has been hobnobbing with the Wright party to secure an interest in the Northern Pacific for the benefit of the Northwestern. The Rock Island people have managed to join hands with the Villard and Billings parties, who have been strongly opposed to the Wright management. The annual meeting of the Northern Pacific will be held in September, and it is the general opinion that there will be a complete change in the management. It is stated that the condition upon which the Rock Island secured the co-operation of the Villard and Billings interests is that Mr. Henry Villard is again to be president of the road. Mr. Villard's mission abroad is said to have been to secure the proxies of the German stockholders, and he is now en route home, and together with Mr. Billings and the Rock Island people, he expects to be able to put himself again at the head.

Died a Defaulter.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 19—A startling rumor spread through this city to-day to the effect that the late John Nichols, vice-president of the City National bank, whose sudden death occurred last Monday at the bank, was a defaulter to a large amount. Immediately after his demise the officers of the City National bank called a meeting of all other bankers of the city to investigate the affairs of the bank. This committee reported that they find the late Vice-President Nichols to have been a defaulter to the amount of about $30,000, but the committee consider the bank sound. Rumors are current that Nichols' private indebtedness is very large. His funeral yesterday was the largest ever witnessed in this city. The body will probably be exhumed to settle the question whether or not he committed suicide.

From Tonquin.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Letters from Tonquin say that the treaty of Tientsin is a dead letter so far as the evacuation of the country by the Chinese is concerned. Troops have refused to return to China or to disarm and are forming an army of irregulars, and are preparing to attack the French. Phiroo, chief of the Black Flags has offered his services to the French to suppress piracy and anarchy in Northern Tonquin on condition that he be appointed governor of the district. His offer was declined by Gen. DeLisle the French commander.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—It is stated that "Maxwell" who it is said murdered Preller at St. Louis, Mo., is a son of the national school master at Ryde near Manchester.

Old Time Telegraphers.

Special to THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The old time telegraphers' association, and society of the United States military telegraphers' corps, held their annual reunion at Manhattan Beach hotel to-night. About 200 persons were present, among them many veteran telegraphers of the war of the rebellion. The object of the association is to bring before the government claims of men who served during the war. The meeting to-night was purely of a social character.

The N. P.'s Terminus.

Special to THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. Counsel for the Northern Pacific Railroad Company have applied to the Interior Department for a rehearing in the case recently affirmed by Secretary Lamar, relative to the terminal limits of the road in Washington Territory. Assistant Secretary Jenks will grant a hearing upon his return to the city.

Rents in Ireland.

Special to THE TIMES.

LIMERICK, Aug. 21.—Earl Devon has finally made an offer to ten of tenements to grant their demand for a reduction of 20 per cent. in rents. Tenants will decide to-morrow whether to pay or refuse. A defence fund is being raised and much excitement prevails.

The Cholera in Europe

Special to THE TIMES.

TOULON, Aug. 20.—The patients with cholera in the garrison are recovering. The inhabitants of the city are in no way alarmed.

MARSEILLES, Aug. 21.—There were 39 deaths from cholera in this city to-day.

Relief for Kassala.

Special to THE TIMES.

CAIRO, Aug. 20.—Sheikh Mosebaut, of the Bisharine tribe, has started for Suakim to try and induce the tribesmen to assist in the relief of Kassala.

The American Bar Association.

Special to THE TIMES.

SARATOGA, Aug. 19.—The American Bar Association assembled here to-day, in its eighth annual session. The annual address was made by the president, Hon. John W. Stevenson, of Kentucky. He spoke in favor of advancing the science of independent jurisprudence and promotion through the administration of justice, and urged the necessity of uniformity in legislation throughout the several states. The members of the general council, embracing one from each state, were then chosen. Resolutions were passed for the appointment of a committee to report what action, if any, the association should take in view of the contingent necessity for legislation for the relief of the supreme court of the United States from its overplus of business. At the evening session, David Dudley Field submitted a paper on judicial delays and uncertainties. A paper was read by Reuben C. Benton, of Minnesota, on the Standing Relations of legislative and judicial function.

Accidental Chloroformists.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19. St. Louis specials represent Maxwell in a variety of moods. The Herald states positively that he admits his name as Hugh M. Brooks; that he chloroformed his traveling companion to death, and will try to prove it was accidental, and that he is a son of Samuel N. Brooks, of Cheshire, England. Brooks, Sr., is a member of high standing in the Masonic order.

Goes to Canada

DAYTON, O., Aug. 18.—Capt. Joseph H. Ensign, secretary of the board of police commissioners, has defaulted and left for parts unknown with about $3,000. His mysterious disappearance caused an investigation of his books, but the exact amount of his shortage has not yet been determined, owing to the confused state of the books. Before he left he raised an order on the county treasurer from $288 to $1,088. In addition he took about $800 belonging to the contingent fund of the police force, and $1,200 belonging to an armless soldier, James Mullen, of the Soldiers' Home.

A New Telegraph Invention.

The Ottawa Free Press of a recent date says: A new telegraph pole, invented by Mr. F. N. Gisborne, Superintendent of the Telegraph service, received a practical test in this city. The pole is constructed of malliable galvanized iron, and is only 1½ inches in diameter at the top and 2½ at the bottom, and weighs less than 50 pounds. The bottoms of the pole sets in a claw plate, upon which the earth is closely packed to a height of about 2 feet; then another plate is put into place, and the earth packed upon it to the level of the ground. Through this second plate the pole runs. The claw plates, by being thus placed and packed, takes a firm grip of the ground at once, so that the pole becomes solid immediately after being placed which is only attained by the ordinary wooden pole after it has been in the ground for at least a years. The test yesterday showed the great strength of the poles as a heavy No. 6, government wire was strung from the poles and subjected to the greatest possible strain, but without moving them in the least. Mr. Soper of the firm of Ahearn & Soper, electricians, who was present watched the test with much interest and pronounced the invention a complete success and one of great importance to telegraph construction. It is the intention to use these poles in the construction of the government line in the Northwest, where the cost of transportation of the ordinary wooden pole is very great. The new poles are planted along the canal bank at the foot of Lisgar street.

The Princess Alexandra, wife of the Prince of Wales, wears, when driving, a plain gray Turkish satin gown, fitting tightly; linen collar and cuffs; a white straw bonnet, trimmed with black velvet ribbon and a cluster of poppies pinned up by the throat.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

THE Edmondton people have about 350 SNIDER and WINCHESTER rifles on hand with which to meet a possible Indian uprising.

FIRST Assistant Postmaster General STEVENSON, during the five weeks in which he has been in office, has dismissed 2500 fourth class postmasters.

Natural gas was struck at Fort Colborne, Ont., at a depth of 420 feet with sufficient force to light up the town. The gas was burned on the public streets.

THE Chicago Times says that it took nearly one hundred years to build the Washington monument. But this brilliant record of delay will probably be beaten by New York in the erection of a Grant monument.

BENJAMIN DISRAELI, afterwards LORD BEACONSFIELD, some forty years ago called the then Conservative government of Great Britain "organized hypocrisy." What would he call the present Tory government there? Organized apostacy.

On dit that CAPT. MACMASTER, the well known Liberal leader in Toronto political circles, will probably be the Liberal candidate in Cardwell, on MR. THOMAS WHITE seeking re-election. If CAPTAIN MACMASTER runs there will be a close contest.

THE most profitable newspapers in the world: The London Times, is valued at $25,000,000, and the most profitable in France, The Petit Journal, earns $800,000 a year net, although a dozen years ago it was insolvent. The London Standard is valued at $10,000,000. The Daily News at $6,000,000, and $5,000,000 would not buy The Telegraph.

THOSE who are agitating for a communication of RIEL'S sentence say that if they are successful, as they expect to be, they will demand not only a reprieve, but a complete amnesty for all the half-breeds who took part in the Northwest insurrection, including RIEL, DUMONT, LUMAN, and the other leaders. They say that the government, by sending out commissioners to grant the very thing that the half-breeds asked for before the rebellion, have acknowledged that the demands were just and that the rebellion was provoked and therefore the request for an amnesty cannot reasonably be refused.

LORD DUFFERIN is reported as "actively engaged in strengthening the friendship of the Indian chiefs." There is no doubt he can keep the Indian princes all right, if he gives a costly durbar every now and then; but the fellows whose friendship he most needs are over the Suleiman mountains in Afghanistan and north of Herat in Afghan-Turkestan. The AMEER ABDUR RAHMAN himself is by no means sure of the loyalty of the discontended tribes supposed to be under his suzerainty. Beside this, AYOUB KHAN is yet alive; and, although guarded by Persia, his partisans are working actively in his behalf.

AN English lady who has been visiting Canada expresses in the Pall Mall Gazette the opinion that a "judicious and gradual influx of highly-cultivated English women into Canada and the United States would be as great a boon to those countries as it would be a relief to Great Britain." Her reason for this opinion is thus stated: "Although the ladies in the older cities of the North American continent are, with scarcely any exceptions, superior to English gentlewomen in brain power, in clearness of mental vision, in common sense, in practical, sound judgment, and in general intelligence, yet we miss in them that indefinable charm which always clings to a highly cultivated European."

THE hall porter of MADAME JEFFRIES' den of iniquity in London, when introduced into the lobby of the House of Commons by MR. PHILIP CULLEN, member for Louth, pointed out many gentlemen whom he had frequently admitted to the sinful abode. Among them he designated LORD HARTINGTON, SIR CHARLES DILKE, SIR WILLIAM VERNON HARCOURT, and other notables. MR. CULLEN has these parties in a tight place, and threatens to unload on them, if they interrupt him while speaking. This kind of patrician crookedness is confined to neither political party, but since SIR CHARLES DILKE'S exposure the Liberals seem to be trying to prove that many distinguished Tories are in the same box.

THE LIBERAL PROGRAMME.

The English Liberals have completed their programme for the forthcoming election, and it is now being circulated throughout the United Kingdom and Ireland. The different points are fairly and fully enunciated so that every one can judge for himself as to its true character. Naturally all sorts of objections are being raised against many of the questions taken up by the Liberals, many even asserting that the platform in its entirety savors largely of communism. Such a class of objections, and many similar ones, were expected, and the party are said to be thoroughly prepared to meet their opponents' arguments. The Liberals demand (1) free schools, and the pertinent question is asked, Is there anything unanswerable in that? On the contrary, it is the most reasonable and righteous thing in the world, and ought to have been adopted long ago. It is in the last degree unreasonable, oppressive and short-sighted to force the industrious poor, especially in a country like England, to send their children to school and to pay their twopence or threepence per week each, when they are unable to feed them properly or clothe them even to the point of decency. If the ident of a national system of education is that all the children of school age should be under instruction, then it follows that the national schools must be free in order that all may be able to avail themselves of the privilege or to comply with the obligation. The good sense of the country will not be long in seeing that this plank of the Liberal programme is an entirely reasonable one. A graduated scale of taxation, if it can be secured, is also not unreasonable. To say that a man with a hundred thousand pounds a year income should contribute to the expenses of the country at the same rate as the man with a hundred is not to speak very sensibly. The tenth part of the one income is proportionally much greater than the same percentage of the other. Use and wont may have led the most of people to think that it is all right, but the more it is examined the less will its reasonableness appear. The only difficulty with us is as to how this proposed graduated scale of taxation is to be reached and acted upon. An income tax is in its very nature inquisitorial, unfair, and oppressive, giving every opportunity for fraudulent dealings, while it presses heavily and with very undue weight upon the honest, and those with fixed and known incomes. Nor can anything be reasonably said against further changes in the whole system of land tenure. Entail and primogeniture must go. All priority of claim for rent must be abolished, and landlords must take their places on the same level with other creditors. The TORRENS or some equally cheap and convenient system of conveyancing and registration must also be introduced, and the man who deals in or owns land must be put on exactly the same level with him who deals in sugar and tea. To talk of such and similar changes being either revolutionary or communistic is simply absurd. On the contrary, such proposals are as reasonable as they are moderate, and those who oppose their adoption, whether in Britain or anywhere else, will soon be left high and dry.

ARE we never to hear the last of these London scandals in high places? Scarcely a day passes without a new one, and the monotonous regularity is becoming tiresome. Possibly, however, this new era of publicity that seems to have been inaugurated will have a beneficent influence in restraining those who hitherto have been able to enjoy their secret sins without fear of exposure and disgrace.

ALLUDING to the appearance of cholera in Marseilles, a correspondent asserts that the state of things there almost passes belief, and this hotbed of contagion has been permitted to grow with the warm weather and breed cholera, while the other residents of the city have been kept as long as possible in ignorance of the terrible plague at their doors. In these crowded and dirty localities the people have been huddled together like pigs, and garbage and refuse of all kinds are thrown into the streets. In the total absence of drainage there is no other way to dispose of refuse, and the result is a horrible and sickening accumulation of filth. What are the Victoria authorities doing to have a thorough cleansing up of the city? "An ounce of preventative is worth a pound of cure." The terrible visitation that has swept thousands into eternity in European cities should be a warning to authorities everywhere to insist on the strictest sanitary measures being enforced.

THE formation of a new fourth party in England, below the Ministerial gangway appear imminent to the London News. Lord Churchill, Mr. Gorst, Sir Henry Wolff and Mr. Arthur Balfour have been absorbed, and their independent allies, Mr. Henry Chaplin and Mr. Ashmead-Bartlett, have also been taken in and provided for. But Sir Robert Peel, Mr. James Lowther, Lord Henry Lennox and Mr. Edward Clarke have been left out, and there are no four gentlemen in the House of Commons with a livelier faculty of annoyance or a greater capacity of bearing faithful witness to the errors and faults of their friends. They have taken up their places—the word is a bitter reminder—not behind Her Majesty's ministers as loyal supporters, but in an attitude of critical vigilance on the right flank of the treasury bench. MR. EDWARD CLARKE is loud in the proclamation of his wrongs. The whole world, he says, is not less amazed than himself at seeing the respectable mediocrity of SIR RICHARD WEBSTER and MR. GORST preferred to the intellectual superiority which Plymouth has discerned. The others brood over their woes in a moody silence. But the explosion will probably be the more terrible when the cloud bursts.

SMUGGLING BUSINESS.

Evasion of the Customs regulations in the eastern portion of the Dominion is known to be carried on to an alarming extent. The officers are doubling their vigilance and yet they are unable to cope with such as have reduced the business of smuggling to a science. From Montreal the news came recently of the AYERS seizure involving hundreds of thousands; then the seizure of the school books published by the NELSONS, of Edinburgh, likewise involving a large sum. Seizures are now becoming a matter of every day occurrence. A very clever seizure, amounting to over $8000 was made the other day in Montreal. The smuggler in this case was of the fair sex. She hailed from New York and her dress bore out the impression that she was in reality a lady. It was her habit to cross the lines at different points. At one time she would arrive by the Southeastern Railway and at another time by the Central Vermont. She was always accompanied by a small poodle dog, and it was under the blanket which the dog invariably wore that the valuables were stored. Upon arriving here or at Ottawa or Toronto—for it is said the wily woman's swindling operations were not confined to this city alone—the goods were turned over to an accomplice—a gentleman—who disposed of them to different parties. Being able to sell at a lower rate than the retail or even wholesale merchants, he was able to dispose of a large quantity of really fine jewelry at a fair profit. The game was dropped to by a vigilant customs officer who, upon watching the movements of the parties, discovering their little game, and further investigation disclosed the facts as stated above.

From the maritime provinces we learn that MESSRS BOURKE and MCLAREN, customs detectives, have struck Halifax. For some time these gentlemen have been going the rounds of the provinces, making a good many seizures at different points. On the way to that city they seized a vessel at Lunenburg, and were not in Halifax fifteen minutes before they had taken two schooners under their protecting ægis, namely, the Lillian, Capt. Hire, lying at Tobin's wharf, and the A. S. Townsend, Capt. LeBlanc, at Roche's. The Lillian is owned by J. E. Irish. The detectives report that the smuggling for which these vessels have been seized was done some time ago, when the vessels were under control of different captains and crews.

It is evident the government is determined to stamp out the illegitimate traffic at whatever cost. To those found guilty it has proved an expensive business, a pastime they are not likely to indulge in again.

GEN. LORD WOLSELEY received many honeyed compliments and an excellent coat of whitewash yesterday, in the British Parliament, but not a word of encouragement seems to have been given to his earnest recommendations to begin another march on Khartoum in the autumn. Even LORD SALISBURY has no stomach for another Soudan campaign under the conqueror of Ashantee.

MONTREAL Witness: English financiers and economists are refusing to take part in a government commission to inquire into the state of trade, or, in other words, to do what a similar commission did for the Canadian government, provide material for a protection boom. PROF. BAYCE, member for the Tower Hamlets, and an earnest economist, is an exception. He is an active-minded, energetic man, and probably welcomes a chance of a battle royal with the protectionists. MR. EDWARD HICKS, the only other man of any note in financial or economical circles, is the Conservative member from Cambridgeshire. It is not improbable that the commission will be allowed to fall to the ground.

FINDING A SILVER MINE.

The Discovery Made by a Trio of Prospectors Who Were Hedging Indians.

[Chicago Herald.]

Another sensational mining discovery was made in 1876 in Arizona, but this was a pure silver production. It was one of the most interesting finds ever made on the coast. Three prospectors, Copeland, Mason and another, were one day dodging Indians in the neighborhood of Queen creek, Final county, about fifty miles from Florence. The Indians had been very bad that year in that region and no prospector felt safe a moment. One evening Copeland and party were looking for a place to camp when all at once one of their pack mules gave a snort, and with ears pointed forward, stood stock still. A mule's scent for an Indian is keener than that of any dog for game, and the party knew there was danger ahead. They dismounted and reconnoitered.

While Copeland prepared to scout on the side of a little rise, he tied his mule to a clump of sage brush which grew in the cleft of a ridge of float rock. While he was gone something scared the mule, and the latter jerked the sage brush up and started down the canon. The party located a "rancheria" of Indians a mile off and wisely beat a retreat undiscovered. A half a mile away they picked up the mule, the sage brush still hanging to his bridle. Copeland detached it and was about throwing it away when something clinging to the roots attracted his attention. It was a piece of shattered white quartz, as big as a walnut, the disintegrated mass being held together by a perfect network of pure white silver threads the size of a number eight wire. Some of the roots of the bush ran through the quartz and firmly attached it. The party were greatly excited, but they did not then dare go back on account of the Indians. They staked the locality, and Copeland fairly cudgeled his brain to impress upon it the exact spot he had tied his mule.

Two weeks after they ventured back and to their joy found the coast clear. For several hours they searched among the rocks and scoria of the vicinity, and at last Copeland found the place where the sage brush had been torn up. A few minutes digging revealed the crown of the most beautiful silver quartz ledge any of the prospectors had ever seen. They dug for several days on the spot and laid bare a section twenty feet long and ten feet wide. The vein was without foot or hanging wall, was of pure white quartz, with streaks of native silver (pure white silver) and blotches of black sulphurets running all through it.

This was the discovery of the famous Silver King mine of to-day. This mine has a peculiar interest from the fact that so many public men of note invested in it.

Unlike most silver mines, the Silver King has yielded for a number of years. It is not so profitable as of old, however. The mine has paid since 1879 $1,500,000 in dividends, and has produced something like $2,400,000 in silver. Strange to say, the ledge stands alone by itself. Scores of locations have been made around it, but nothing has ever been found in any of them. If any other evidence were needed to prove that mining for the precious metals is a game of chance the history of the Silver King deposit alone would prove it.

Co-Operative Pleasure Excursions.

[Brooklyn Eagle "Lounger."]

Every man cannot own a yacht, unfortunately, and the yachts now in commission are far too few and small to accommodate all the lovers of yachting. Until two seasons ago no adequate provision was made for the great body of lovers of sea sports who could not get places on yachts or who had no crafts of their own. This is all very happily arranged now, and the great steamboat resources of New York have been taken advantage of. All sorts of schemes were put in practice during the New York club regatta Thursday. One of the most successful parties consisted of a dozen men who "chipped in" and had a tugboat, luncheon, two baskets of champagne and a rattling good time generally on something less than $15 apiece. All of them were accompanied by ladies, and undisturbed by the outside populace, they were quite as happy as the owners of yachts themselves.

This co-operative principle is very popular now among men of moderate means. It has resulted in dining clubs, where each member pays his own share, and all sorts of indiscriminate excursions are taken at a small cost per capita. It is really less expensive than going alone in some instances. For instance, a lot of men hired a coach and went up to Jerome park last racing day and the cost was only $2 apiece. As an illustration of the loss which almost invariably attends playing the races only one man out of twelve came out ahead. He invested to the extent of $60 or $70, had a streak of good luck and came out $6 ahead.

Took "Three Fingers."

[Chicago Herald "Train Talk."]

"I never was a man take a drink in a saloon," said the brakeman, "but I think of a queer little incident that happened me once. Just as we started to work one evening—I was working with a switch crew then—somebody called us over to the saloon to have a drink. I was in a hurry to get to work on time, but as it wasn't often we got a treat I rushed over and hurried up to the bar and said: 'I want a little whisky, and as I'm in a hurry I won't wait for the rest of you, but will take my three fingers right off.' Those were the exact words I used. I had eaten enough to remember them, for ten minutes later, as I was making my first coupling, I was careless, on account of the whisky I've always believed, and this was the result." Here the brakeman held up his hand, from which three fingers were missing.

Advertising Cheats!!!

"It has become so common to begin an article, in an elegant, interesting style,

"Then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such,

And simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible,

"To induce people

"To give them one trial, which so proves their value that they will never use anything else."

"THE HERALD" so favorably noticed in all the papers,

Religious and secular, is

"Having a large sale, and is supplanting all other medicines.

"There is no denying the virtues of the Hop plant, and the proprietors of Hop Bitters have shown great shrewdness and ability * * *

"In compounding a medicine whose virtues are so palpable to every one's observation."

Did She Die?

"No!

"She lingered and suffered along, pining away all the time for years."

"The doctors doing her no good;"

"And at last was cured by this Hop Bitters, and has since remained well."

"Indeed! Indeed!"

"How thankful we should be for that medicine."

A Daughter's Misery.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery.

"From a complication of kidney, liver, rheumatic trouble and Nervous debility,

"Under the care of the best physicians,

"Who gave her disease various names,

"But no relief.

"And now she is restored to us in good health by as simple a remedy as Hop Bitters, that we had shunned for years before using it." THE PARENTS.

Pipes were laid from the new tank on Queen's avenue round by Cunningham street to connect with the pipes leading from the school tank to the jail, and by this means the tank was filled. Some members of the chain-gang assisted in laying down the pipe, and it was for this the Guardian abused Mr. Cunningham, and the Victoria Times was silly enough to copy the item. Will it now have the candor to copy this?"

—Mr. Edward B. Phelps died last night at his residence on View street. He was a native of New Bedford, Mass., and an old pioneer of this province.

The Rival Tea Trains.

The fast tea trains by the Central Pacific from San Francisco to Chicago made unprecedented fast time. The four trains of eighteen cars each passed over the Central Pacific to Ogden in 38 hours, the usual passenger train time being 41 hours. The distance from Ogden to Council Bluffs on the Union Pacific was made in 48 hours, or three hours less than the schedule time: From Council Bluffs to Chicago, which distance is usually covered in 24 hours, the remarkably fast time of 19 hours and 45 minutes was made by one of the tea trains, while another covered the distance in 19 hours and 44 minutes. The total time from San Francisco to Chicago was 105 hours and 45 minutes.

Methodist District Meeting.

The district meeting of the Methodist church was held in New Westminster on Tuesday last. There were about thirteen ministers and a number of lay delegates present. The business transacted was of the usual routine character, the most important being the distribution of the mission fund among the several missionary stations of the district.

THE SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

Special Meeting—Second Teacher for Johnson Street Ward School.

A special meeting of the School Board was held last evening in the City Hall. In the absence of the secretary Mr. Heisterman was appointed to that position pro tem., and for a similar reason the reading of the minutes was postponed to a more convenient season.

Mr. Higgins brought up the question of appointing an additional teacher in the Johnson street ward school, which was now over-crowded. There are ninety-nine pupils on the roll and an average attendance of eighty-seven, which is far beyond what any teacher can efficiently instruct.

Mr. Heisterman said the Superintendent of Education had informed him that a certificated teacher might be appointed for three months at a salary of $85 per month.

Mr. Braden said we would certainly be obliged to appoint some one. The school was increasing so rapidly that it was absolutely impossible for one person to look after it. He nominated Mr. Wright for the position, and said that he had reason to know that he would accept it. Mr. Wright had passed with high honors at his examination.

Mr. Higgins seconded the nomination.

Mr. Braden said that James Bay school was in the same fix. There was an average attendance there of seventy, and he felt satisfied that a deputation would soon have to wait upon the government and ask for a second teacher there also.

Mr. D. Harris said the trouble in James Bay ward school was that the children were not so far advanced, and some of them even could not read or write.

The ballot being taken, five votes (all present) were recorded for Mr. Wright.

Mr. Heisterman moved, seconded by Mr. Higgins, that in view of the near approach of winter, the board address a letter to the Council, asking that sidewalks be built on Kings Road and Blanchard streets, for the accommodation of pupils. Carried.

Mr. Higgins asked if any action had been taken in regard to the night school. He suggested that the Secretary should correspond with the Clerk and find out what time would be convenient for the Council to meet the board for consultation on the matter. He moved to that effect, seconded by Mr. Heisterman.

Mr. Higgins said in regard to the petition of E. A. Phelps, who asked the board that his daughter be allowed to finish her education, that the matter should be decided at once. During the absence of the Secretary it would hardly be right to bring up so important a question.

Mr. Braden thought it would be advisable to let it lay over, as there should be a full board present when it is being considered.

The question was accordingly deferred, and the board adjourned.

RICH SILVER ORE.

Rich Silver Quartz Discovered at Nicola—Assays up to $200.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

KAMLOOPS, August 14th.

Considerable excitement has been created here during the past day or two owing to the reported rich discovery of silver ore in the Nicola country, about 35 miles southwest of this place. Mr. R. Winters, formerly of Victoria, arrived here yesterday, bringing with him specimens of silver ore which are said to contain good prospects. Several assays have been made, the results ranging from $65 to $200 to the ton. Mr. Winters has put down two shafts, and has reached a depth of 25 feet on one and 35 feet on the other. The vein is said to be a well defined one of about 3½ feet in thickness. A number of other claims have been located on the same ledge, and the holders are endeavoring to have them registered with the privilege of allowing them to lay over. It is doubtful, however, if this can be done, the mining regulations requiring that the claims shall be worked. Mr. Winters leaves here to-morrow for his claim, taking with him additional help, powder and blasting material. It is to be hoped that the ledge will hold out, and should it do so Kamloops may expect a boom.

WILL R.

British Columbia's Supreme Court.

The correspondent of the Chicago Tribune writes that journal from this city: I stepped into the Supreme Court room the other day and was impressed, as are all the Yankees, as they call us over here, with the bearing of that august body. Above the seats of the court is raised a canopy of gold and red, on the front of which glitters the legend "Justitia, Sapientia, Clementia." Over the centre of this shines the golden "V. R." which has been the emblem of respect for the last forty or more years. The judges filed in, five of them in flowing robes and wigs, the same style as worn by the old British judges who tried Lord Russell and his colleagues several centuries ago. The lawyers, too, wore the honorable gown of their calling, which an irreverent subject to Queen Victoria told me was simply to cover up their old clothes. However it may be, British Columbia's Supreme Court has a striking appearance to American eyes, as it is the only one on the continent, I believe, which maintains the English form.

The A. O. U. W.

The members of the two lodges of United Workmen, and sojourning brethren in the city will tender Father Upchurch a public reception on the evening of the 27th inst., on which day he will arrive in this city. An advertisement giving full particulars appears in another column. Mr. J. J. Upchurch, called "Father" Upchurch from the fact that he is the founder of the order, is a North Carolinian by birth. He established the first A. O. U. W. lodge at Meadville, Penn., on the 27th October, 1868, and even since that time has been actively engaged in advancing the interest of the order he brought into existence. He will, we feel certain meet with a hearty reception by the brethren of Victoria and citizens generally will turn out in large numbers at Philharmonic Hall in the evening in question.

Timber Districts.

The Lieut.-Governor, under the provisions of Section 29 of the Timber Act, 1884, has constituted the following timber districts: Vancouver and adjacent Islands, together with the Coast District, under the name of the "Vancouver and Coast Timber District," and the District of New Westminster under the name of the "New Westminster Timber District." W. S. Gore has been appointed Inspector for the first named and C. Warwick for the second named district.

Cholera Quarantine Regulations.

The Dominion Branch of the Agricultural Department already regards arrangements already made to prevent the introduction of cholera as sufficient. In addition to the existing stations, new quarantine stations have been created at Sydney, C. B., and Victoria, B. C. An appropriation has been obtained from Parliament for this service, and no efforts will be spared to effectively enforce the regulations issued a few weeks ago. All vessels arriving from infected ports are immediately subjected to the regular quarantine regulations. Where there are no medical superintendents the ordinary collector of customs is empowered to apply the regulations.

THE WAR-SHIP TRIUMPH.

A Powerful Man-of-War—Her Size and Armament.

A telegram to an officer of the Consolidated says that the man-of-war Triumph left San Francisco for this station yesterday. She will probably reach Esquimalt on Monday next. During her stay at San Francisco, a reporter of the Chronicle gave a description from which we take the following:

ARRANGEMENT OF THE VESSEL.

The hull of the Triumph is pure white, and gleams across the tawny expanse of the harbor like the plumage of some gigantic aquatic bird of the extinct orders. Her shape is graceful, but lacking in delicate lines. She has a sharp ram at the prow, and her stern is rounded, so that looked at from behind she suggests the idea of a floating castle such as the earlier maritime nations tried to build. Her masts are tall and her spars very long. The former are of iron and hollow, with a ladder inside. It is possible for a man to climb to the crosstree without being seen, a convenience which might be of value in action. The ship's hull tapers toward above the water line. The main deck amidships projects beyond the beam ends, giving to the main battery the advantage of the two angles on each side. A fore-and-aft, as well as a broadside, fire may thus be delivered by the main battery. The armor is nine inches thick in its heaviest part. The ship has not only the ordinary athwartship bridges, but also fore and aft bridges, one running along the top of each bulwark. On her spar deck is a small house built of heavy iron plates, called the "conning tower." Here, when in action, the commander may take his station and issue his orders, safe from the enemy's fire. The quartermaster, who steers by the steam gear, and the lieutenant, who has charge of the aiming of the guns, also shelter themselves here. The latter can view, through small apertures in the side of the tower, the objects to be fired at. The midshipman in the maintop gives the estimate of their distance, and upon this the gunning lieutenant bases a mathematical calculation which gives the proper elevation of the guns. Speaking tubes connect the tower with the batteries and the torpedo ports and all the other gun stations.

THE TRIUMPH'S ARMAMENT.

The deck of the Triumph shines from very cleanliness, as the decks of men-of-war traditionally do. The ship is a little world in itself and a very populous one. There are few idlers. Jack Tar's elbow grease is the best-known preventive of rust and accumulated filth. The first objects that meet the gaze of the land-lubber in the quarter-deck are two magnificent five-inch breech-loading guns. In every part of the ship the armament is superb. Gardner and Nordenfeldt guns are on the fore and aft bridges and the spardeck, and there are also two of the latter in the topgallant forecastles. The upper and main batteries, with their ten nine-inch muzzle-loading monsters, look formidable enough. Every piece of ordnance is rifled and is of recent make, bearing either the date of 1883 or that of 1884. The most curious of them all are four brightly polished torpedo guns, two of which are on the main and two on the half-deck. They are said to launch their deadly projectile to a great distance and with wonderful accuracy. The force used is compressed air. In the half-deck long ranges of cutlasses and Martini rifles remind the visitor that naval fights sometimes come to very close quarters. The Triumph is about fifteen years old and while at one time regarded as the finest ship in the British navy, is now far surpassed by the Minotaur, the Agincourt and the Alexandra. Every improvement of recent invention, however, has been added to her. She has electric lights for detection of torpedoes. Her screw is hung at the bottom of a well, through which, when sail alone is to be used, it may be hoisted to the upper deck.

THE WATER WORKS CASE.

The Motion for an Injunction Against the Corporation.

In the case of A. McLean and other residents, against the corporation of the city of Victoria for an injunction to stop the issuance of a supply of water to persons outside of the city limits, the evidence of Mr. T. Russell, water commissioner, was taken this forenoon, before Mr. Justice Gray, in chambers. Mr. Russell said there were fifteen householders and four brickyards outside of the city limits supplied with water, the consumption of the former being 1500 gallons per day. The revenue derived from these houses was $23.75 per month, and from the brickyards $81.90 per month. The estimated revenue within the city limits is $30,000 per annum. The unredeemed debentures for which the property within the city is mortgaged, amount to $162,500. The average quantity of water consumed for street sprinkling was estimated at 25,000 gallons per day, and the area of the city served in this way was defined to be from Store along Cormorant to Douglas, thence along Douglas to Fort, up Fort to Blanchard, down Fort to Government, along Government to Cormorant, and all the streets westwardly to the harbor, amounting to about one-twentieth of the total area of the city. For this service no revenue was derived, and it was consequently more particularly for the benefit of those within the area defined. As a water commissioner, Mr. Russell had always contended that the water works department was entitled to credit, or compensation, for the consumption for that purpose. The 25,000 gallons used for sprinkling might be used from other sources, such as by pumping from the harbor, and that amount be saved to those on the higher levels of the city. The value of the water used in this way, reckoned at 60 cents per thousand gallons, was $15 per day. The city pays for sprinkling $150 per month, or about $5 per day. This would leave a margin of $10 per day to pay for pumping from the harbor. The effect of drawing off the water for sprinkling purposes was to reduce the pressure so that the rise was lowered 21½ feet for a period of at most three and one-half hours per day, and for this reason the water could not get over the hill during that time. It was Mr. Russell's opinion that sprinkling the streets had a greater effect on reducing supply than the amount drawn by outside parties. The 25,000 gallons used for this purpose would be sufficient to supply James Bay and the higher levels with all the water they want. He believed that if the present rules in regard to the use of water for irrigating purposes were strictly observed, there would be no waste to an extent to affect the higher levels. If the brickyards drew during the prescribed hours, between 9 p. m. and 5 a. m. the effect on the higher levels would not be injurious. But James Bay was at present supplied with a two and a half inch pipe, which was much too small to give that section its proper proportion of water. But steps are now being taken to rectify that grievance. To give a continuous supply to residents on Fort street, the guage at the city hall should indicate a pressure of fifty pounds whereas the average pressure was only 40 pounds. A high service reservoir, was, in his opinion, the only way by which a continuous and full supply could be given to the people in that quarter of the city. Mr. Russell was asked by His Lordship for some further statistical information, and to give him time to prepare it, the case was adjourned until to-morrow, when argument will also be heard.
